

Press Release

Keypiece Communication Desk.

Design: EOOS.

Modern leadership takes place in conversation. Moderating, initiating, communicating – the spoken word matters. Keypiece Communication Desk is designed to support contemporary leadership and modern ways of working. For individual and teamwork, for advice and discussion – in person, by phone or via video – it is configurable to your needs.

Resting harmoniously above the legs and container, the table top appears to be floating. Its conical shape offers users a balance of closeness and distance – sitting either side by side, or facing each other. The connecting element is the soft curves of the table top. Newly added is the option of solid wood legs, and surface veneers in shades matching to the solid wood. In addition, a supremely tactile, soft-edge finish is now possible for all veneers. Keypiece Communication Desk exudes warmth and naturalness, especially as a wooden table.

Allowing for work while sitting and standing, the electric height adjustment can be operated simply by pressing a button on the touchpad. All the connections are hidden in the panel of the integrated media hub, which is molded in veneer in the case of the soft-edge version. On top of the turntable, it closes the cable container and allows the presentation screen to be rotated. Technical equipment and personal items find their place in the containers, of which two variations are available.

Whether in the office or at home – the desk frees up space. Generous and economical at the same time, this versatile design ensures an additional meeting table is superfluous. From generating ideas to getting organized – there is plenty of space for thought and discussion.
